DEAN IRIS GARDENS, MONETA, CALIFORNIA.

READ BEFORE ORDERING

The prices quoted herein cancel all previous quotations made either by letter or in printed lists.

Prices include delivery anywhere in the United States, on orders for not less than $1.00 in value, provided such orders are placed in the summer or fall, when the stock is in the best condition for shipping. After the rains come they have made heavy root growth, the rhizomes are filled with moisture and consequently being softer, cannot be shipped as cheaply. Orders sent later than Dec. 1st, from outside the first three zones, will be sent by Express at the purchaser's expense.

Six plants will be furnished at dozen rates where they are quoted by the dozen. Price per hundred, or in larger quantities, quoted on application.

Terms: Cash with order.

Important Note. We exercise due care to keep all varieties TRUE TO NAME, and hold ourselves in readiness at any time to replace, on proper proof, any stock that may prove otherwise. All sales made subject to stock being unsold when order is received, or loss by any and all unavoidable causes.

Stock of many of the newer introductions is very limited. Please state whether you wish us to substitute with something equally as good if sold out of any you may order.

Cultural Notes. The Bearded Irises do well in ordinary garden soil. Some thrive without artificial watering in our location, but much depends upon the rainfall. For best results it is advisable to water during the flowering season at least, and in light soils more water is required and longer during the summer season. Give good drainage. The Variegata and yellow forms and some others require more moisture to bring them to perfection than the tall growing varieties, such as the Asia Minor and Pallida types. Barely cover the rhizome in planting, and if necessary to fertilize use bone meal or crushed limestone. Divide every two to four years. Can be grown in full sun or partial shade—they do well under the shade of trees if the sun reaches them a part of the day. Stylosa requires the same treatment as the Bearded, but in this variety when the plant is well established, cut down close to the ground in late summer. Most of the Beardless varieties require more humus and moisture although the Spurias do well treated as the Bearded.

The Sibiricas and some others must be kept at least damp all of the year. Our native varieties will carry through the dry season without being watered after being established.

UNGUICULARIS GROUP

(Mid-winter flowering, blooming from fall to spring.)

Stylosa. Lilac blue, with grassy evergreen foliage.

Stylosa marginata. A form of bluer hue and somewhat broader foliage than above. Makes a very rank growth.

Stylosa alba. A white form.

Stylosa speciosa. A violet form, narrower foliage and somewhat smaller flower and shorter perinth tube.

We furnish small roots of the first three at 15c each; $1.50 per dozen; or larger size at 25c each, or $2.50 per dozen. The last named is 50c per root.

We recommend planting these from the latter part of July to the middle of February, they complete leaf growth as they go out of bloom.

Morea Iridoides. Closely related to the Iris and the flower resembles the Iris in form. White with a pretty orange blotch; petaloid stigmas a lavender color. Dark evergreen grassy foliage with branching flowering stems 3 feet tall. Blooms intermittently throughout the year in Southern California. Each, 50c.

- Mme. de Seigne (Denis). A fine large Plicata, with violet-purple markings. Each, $2.50.
- Mlle. Schwartz (Denis). A very large tall growing Ricardii hybrid of lavender, showing more or less rosy tone according to location. Each, $5.00.

Ricardii fonce (Denis). Light violet, deepening in falls to Bradley's violet. A very large flowered variety carried on tall branched stems. Each 3.00

Romeo (Millet), S. Colonial buff, deepening at base to amber yellow and dotted brown; F. lavender with unique markings of reddish purple. Each, $1.00.

Souvenir de Mme. Guadichau (Millet). A vigorous plant, carrying large flowers of good substance on a nearly 3-ft. stem. The standards are Bradley's violet, the falls somewhat deeper in color and velvety. A very rich handsome flower. Each, $10.00.

Syphax (Bliss). The combination of deep vinaceous-lavender in the standards, and deep Colonial buff in style branches, with the velvety crimson falls, produces a handsome flower. Unfortunately in this location it does not produce a long stem, but throws considerable bloom in the autumn. Each, $3.00.

Tunisie (Millet). A tall Squalens with smoky standards of deep heliotrope, analine-yellow and slate-violet; F. velvety litho-purple. Each, $2.50.

A FEW OF MISS STURTEVANT'S SEEDLINGS.

Alice Osgood. Habit of Rangoon. A light bright bicolor. Each $1.00

Avalon. The standards overlap, the falls flare, and the flowers of a lustrous Light Mauve, held on well branched stalks. 42 in. Each, $25.00.

Bluet. A very light lavender-violet, with a white beard and a noticeably neat habit of growth. 2 ft. Each, $1.50.

Cordon Bleu. An unusually deep blue-toned Pleroma Violet self, with smooth spreading falls; of rich effect in the garden. 32 in. Each 75c.

Medallion. The standards of Pinard Yellow form a firm cone; on the falls the heavy veins of Indian Lake become confluent at the tip. A good variegata of vigorous growth, clear color and fine shape. 30 in. Each, 50c.

Naushon. Well-branched stalks, the flower with a rather pointed top and broad ruffled segments of a slightly creped texture, the colors mauve and pansy violet; it makes a heavy flowered clump. Each, 50c.

Palaurea. Of shaded Lobelia violet color, with a warm glow of yellow through the center of the flower; of Pallida habit. Each, $1.00.

Queen Caterina. Pale lavender violet self, with a white shaft veined with bronze and a rich orange beard. The height, smooth texture of the flowers and their lasting quality made the decision of awarding the silver medal difficult. 3 to 4 ft. F.C.C. M.H.S. Each, $4.00.

Rangoon. The size of the heavy blooms borne on 2-foot stalks attract attention. Standards mauve, falls Amparo purple shading to hyacinth violet. Color, substance and growth exceptional. Each, $1.00.

Whiffenpoof. The erect ruffled standards are deep olive buff, with an edge of vinaceous buff; the falls are also ruffled at the edge and are a deep Amparo purple that fades to russet vinaceous. 30 in. Each, 75c.

DEAN SEEDLINGS

Lady Lou. Lavender-violet self of Pallida type, on 4-ft. stem. A handsome variety. Each, $5.00.

San Gabriel. Large flowers of lustrous lavender, flushed rosy-mauve, carried on 40-in. branching stems. Delicate and beautiful. Each, $10.00.

The above are two of our own seedlings of the bearded type that are entirely distinct from any in our collection, and have the added value of being exceptionally early bloomers, the first flowers opening the first of March, thus giving a greater variety among the early blooming sorts.

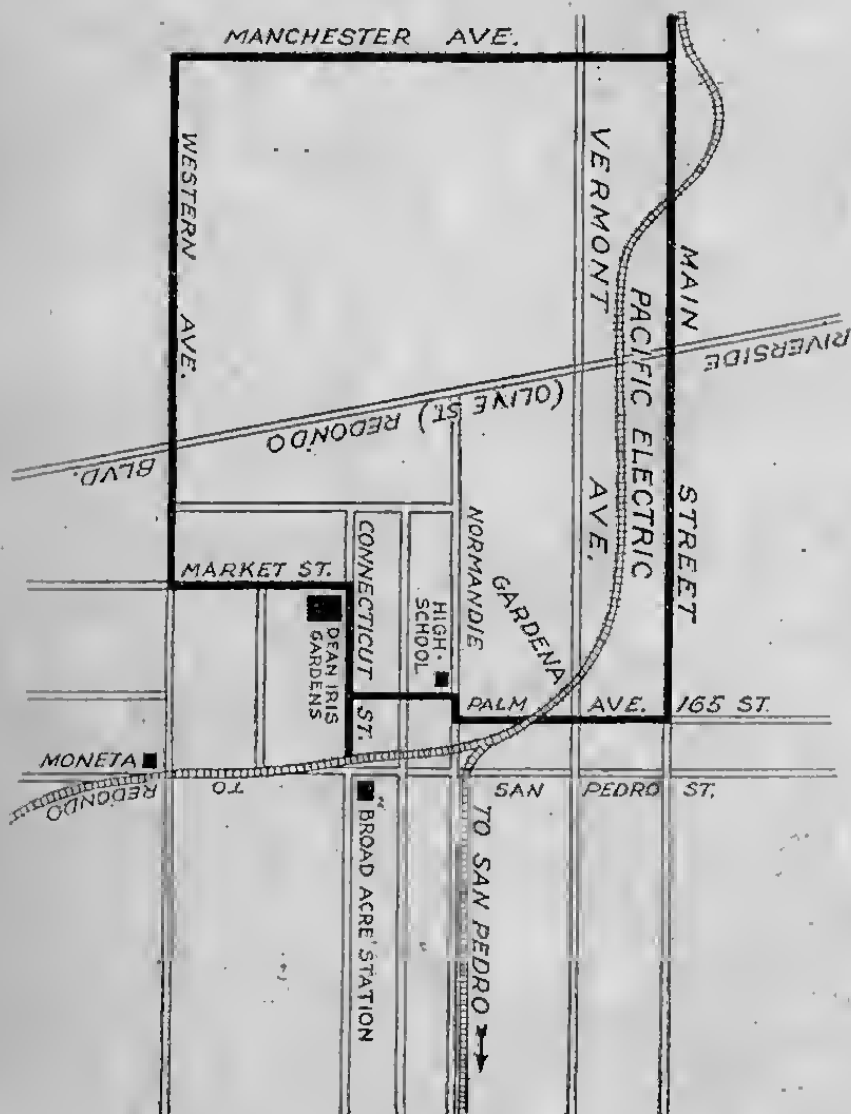

BULBOUS, ONCOCYCLUS AND REGELIA SECTIONS

We regret we are again obliged to state we are not prepared to supply Iris Susiana and Spanish Iris bulbs, so much called for since the embargo, as well as other novelties under these sections.

The height of the Iris season is the latter part of April and early May. Many varieties may still be seen in sufficient quantity to select from for two or three weeks later, some still blooming into June, and a few stragglers in July. Early fall a few of the Bearded Irises, the dwarf varieties and Stylosa begin to throw some bloom, and in mid-winter Stylosa is at its height; also more or less bloom on a few of the bearded and other species, while about the first of March, Siwas, Mesopotamica and others, including the two new seedlings we are offering this year, join the procession. The first of April, Caterina, the earlier blooming Pallidas and others come on, until about the latter part of the month the garden is a mass of color.

Where customers desire, and will give us an idea of soil, location, color preference, and about the amount they wish to spend, we submit suggestions for plantings. We can also recommend the varieties best adapted for desert conditions. We are prepared to quote a very reasonable price on a number of varieties suitable for large plantings. Write for further information.

LOS ANGELES

Seed of California Native Irises, with the exception of Bracteata, which is a native of Oregon.

These dainty and pretty Irises are easily raised from seed, often blooming in one year, and in two and three years form large clumps, blooming very freely for a long time in the spring.

They cover a wide range of color and should be planted widely in the West and South, where the winters are not too severe.

We offer the following six varieties: Bracteata, Douglasiana, Hartwegii, Mecrosiphon, Missouriensis and Tenax, at 25c per pkt., or one each of the six varieties for $1.00.

One packet of Mr. Morris's choice seedlings for 50c.
